Transition Year Programme

The Transition Year Programme is a voluntary outlet for students attending the college. The school always has high numbers in Transition Year. During this school period, students study self-defence, take individual cooking lessons, play a rugby league, take a work experience placement and engage in various other activities. Students are highly recommended to partake in the Gaisce - The President's Award programme. Boys represent the college in a local 'Build A Bank' competition, partake in a Peer education programme and join a motor safety course. Often, the transition year group travels abroad. At the end of the year, selected students are given awards for their Transition Year performances, including a Student of the Year award, Endeavour award, Maturity award and individual activity awards such as Cookery and Rugby.

BRIEF STATEMENT

Our school derives its ethos from the Edmund Rice tradition. As we step inside our school each day we are reminded of that proud tradition and we are strengthened by the traditions and achievements of those who have gone before us. If we can emulate and enhance the high standards of the past we can build a successful future for ourselves. Our rich ethos permeates all disciplines and every curricular activity. It strives for a community of students, teachers, ancillary staff and management which attempts to live by gospel values and recognises the dignity of each individual and working for justice and peace in society.
