BRIEF DESCRIPTION

St. Angela's College is an Ursuline secondary school under the trusteeship of Le Chéile. Situated in the heart of Cork, we welcome students from all parts of the city, its suburbs and indeed its hinterland. This healthy mix of town and country contributes greatly to the school's very special atmosphere, which is always remarked upon by students, parents and visitors alike.

St Angela's has been educating girls in Cork since 1887 and we are very proud of our tradition of empowering young women to reach their full potential by exposing them to an education which reflects the ethos and values of the Ursuline Sisters and the teachings of the foundress of the Order, Angela Merici. We are a school rooted in family values, and we emphasise courtesy, kindness and respect in all our dealings with members of our school community.
